menus
dmis
given
best
end
group
used
give
real
surface
aspects
alternative
peye
infrared
selection
conceptually
optimal
technical evaluate
sound
multitouch
users
track
integrate
aesthetic
audience
effect
onset
analyzing allowing
technique
one
exploration
data
blindfolded
detection
technology
improve
performing determine
different
sensor
touch
generalization
feedback
ipod
system
produce
screen
collect
issues
algorithms
temporal
learning
comparing
experience
speed/quality
context
control
rate
optical
representation
marker-based
impressions
certain
characteristics
suitability
compare
proposed
dmi
instrument
position
prototype
not clear
button
benchmarks
improvisation
quality
high
hypothesis
two
performance
capable
order
assess
systems
playability
motion
regarding
test
methods
gathering
tradeoff
collected
combination
understand
highlight
subjective
capture
observe
simulation
evaluation
gaze
choice
use
seeing existing
feature
tested
time